

ATLANTA HOMESTM & LIFESTYLES

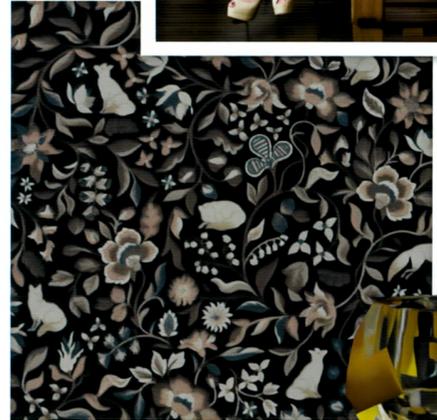

Artful Escape
POLISHED, PERSONAL HOMES

BEHIND THE SCENES

MY MUST-HAVES

Interior designer BARBARA WESTBROOK of WESTBROOK INTERIORS talks outdoor dining, shopping, and seasonal scents. Produced by THE EDITORS

antiques hunting

"I have a few go-to antiques shops here in Atlanta. English Accent Antiques and Foxglove Antiques Collective have a wide range of selections from vintage modern to antiques from many different countries. And I cannot forget Dearing Antiques for English antiques and cheerful hand-thrown pottery lamps. William Word Fine Antiques has such an elegant inventory straight from Europe. Robuck never disappoints; I couldn't resist the pale oak bookcase with terrific-looking hinges and the original French blue-painted interior for my own house." englishaccentantiques.com; foxgloveantiques.com; dearingantiques.com; williamwordantiques.com; robuck.co

favorite scent

"Rigaud Cyprés mini candles are wonderful any time and are refillable and have their own lid that acts like a snuffer. We burn a giant Diptyque Baies candle in the office on occasion. It's not an overpowering scent so everyone likes it." us.rigaud-paris.com; diptyqueparis.com

happy hosting

"For a hostess gift, I usually stop by Pollen to pick up a charming arrangement that they have in the shop ready to go. They even have adorable handmade cards to add on. Everything they do, no matter how simple, is tasteful and a welcome gift." pollenatlanta.com tabletop design

"Anything that sparkles and reflects the sunlight is pretty for spring. The Coupé Vessels from R Hughes come in four sizes, are cut from rock crystal blocks, and with a bit of gilding, are stunning alone or mixed with spring flowers. They can also act as votives. I sprinkle them in the middle of the dining table for our clients and they love them." r-hughes.com

spring season

"It's always delightful to be able to dine outside in the spring. My husband and I can be found at Taqueria del Sol once a week and really enjoy the warm weather while on the side patio. For a fancy dinner, Le Bilboquet has outdoor seating in the middle of Buckhead Village where you can have a more elegant meal. My favorite is the Cajun chicken with those French mashed potatoes that probably have more butter than potato." taqueriadelsol.com; lebilboquetatlanta.com

whimsical walls

"We are designing with more and more wallcovering; it gives rooms such a lift. Zak + Fox has some wonderful wallcoverings with a touch of charm—like the Shinji pattern with the cute little foxes prancing across the paper or the Creatures of the Night that looks like a bobcat is peeking out at you from the bushes." zakandfox.com

Clockwise from above left Outdoor seating at Le Bilboquet; Rigaud Cyprés small candle; Shinji wallcovering from Zak + Fox; Coupé Vessel from R Hughes; antique bookcase from Robuck.

PATIO COURTESY OF LE BILBOQUET.
PORTRAIT BY ERICA GEORGE DINES