WESTBROOK INTERIORS
BARBARA WESTBROOK

Serene Sanctuary

A twist on classic design elements delivers an elegant escape of a bygone era

Although simplicity takes center stage in this beautifully designed master bath by Barbara Westbrook, the designer creates plenty of intrigue. Subtle variations in scale—from the petite floor tile to the oversized limestone baseboards to the tall marble surrounds—give the minimalistic space an understated allure. Other posh details include custom iron doors and windows that reflect the home's charming Early American exterior, as does the pewter-like finish on the plumbing fixtures. "The house has a very timeless feel and it was important to create that same look in here while also being very fresh," Westbrook says. A crisp black-and-white color palette is at once classic and modern, while a luxurious soaking tub from Waterworks, presiding in one corner of the octagonal floor plan, harkens to a simpler time by giving the homeowners a place to pause and take in the breathtaking view of the property's pool and gardens.

judge's notebook:
"The subtle use of color creates a light and airy effect.
It makes an elegant statement without being overdone."
