40 YEARS OF TIMELESS STYLE

FOR THE LOVE OF PETS

Over the past 40 years of publication, pets have always been integral to the magazine's mission—they offer another window into how people live. And, after all, what brings a house to life more than a pampered canine or feline? This handsome pooch poses for a photo op inside an entryway by PETER BLOCK and JOEL KELLY.

UP IN THE AIR

Perhaps one of the biggest changes that Atlanta Homes & Lifestyles has witnessed over the last four decades is the proliferation of high-rise living. Not only have the buildings changed the city's skyline, but the luxurious amenities they offer are often on par with your favorite resort hotel. Inside this Buckhead high-rise, BARBARA WESTBROOK took a dining room to new heights with an intriguing blend of textures and styles.

Great Escapes

As much as Atlantans love their homes, they also like to get away! From the Carolina mountains to 30A in Florida to Georgia's Golden Isles, vacation houses in resort, rural and coastal communities have been integral to the magazine since its beginning in 1983. At right, a boat house by FRANCES ZOOK and CAROLYN MALONE offers a scenic, stylish gathering spot on Lake Burton.
